DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1 and 9 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 1, line 11, change "lateral hole (43) hole" to read, lateral hole (43)".

Claim 9, line 10, change "lateral hole (43) hole" to read, lateral hole (43)".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 1, as best understood, rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hideo, JP 10-155546.

Hideo discloses an inter-dental brush comprising: bristles (at 2); a wire (1) with which the bristles are twisted; and a handle (5) attached to the wire, wherein the handle is composed of a main body (at 6) and a sub-body (at 5), the main body is provided with a longitudinal hole (4) into which a base part of the wire is inserted, and a lateral hole (8) intersecting the longitudinal hole the base part of the wire is provided with a bent portion (10) formed so as to be exposed to the lateral hole, and the sub-body (at 5) is provided with an engagement portion (7) filling the lateral hole so as to surround a periphery of the bent portion. Hideo does not specifically disclose the bent portion of the wire penetrates into at least one of the opposing sides of the lateral hole. Forming the bent portion of the wire into the lateral hole is a matter of engineering expedient since the hole provides space in which the wire would be bent as well as access to the wire to bend it. Hideo however, has disclosed an equivalent design that provides expected results.

4. Claims 2-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hideo in view of Blass 6,325,626.

Hideo is described above. Referring 2-4, Hideo does not specifically disclose the body and sub-body being different from each other; and are made of synthetic resins. Blass discloses an Inter-dental brush having a main body and sub-body being different from each other so as to make the tool more flexible under stress; and being made of synthetic resin so as to optimize the strength of the handle. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have made Hideo's apparatus with the main body and sub-body being different from each other; and made them of synthetic resin as taught by Blass so as to respectively enhance the flexibility under stress; and optimize the strength of the handle.

Referring to claims 5-8, Hideo does not specifically disclose the main body and sub-body being configured as claimed. The configuration of the body parts is a matter of obvious design choice and is a matter of engineering expedient. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the main body and sub-body of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

Referring to claims 9-12, Hideo as modified, in disclosing the apparatus also disclosed the claimed method steps.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
